THE TRIBUNE.

TUESDAY MORNING, DECEMBER 7, 1841. We received yesterday 200 subscriptions for the WEEKLY TRIBUNE, which we were wholly unable to supply promptly, our last and several preceding numbers being entirely exhausted, although we have increased the edition 250 to 500 copies every week.

IT Wepsblished a part of Dr. Lannsun's last Lecture in a part of our edition yesterday. We now publish it rected version of what appeared in a part yesterday.

Message, and supply our waiting subscribers.

IF A most absurd and wicked fabrication which appears to have been concocted in Buston and set afloat by the Mail, was hawked through our streets yesterday. It pretended to be an acof an unsuccessful attack on a company of U.S. Artiflery stationed on Fish River in the Disputed Territory by a battalion of British regulars under Major Stockburton, with the loss of 20 or 20 killed and wounded, while our troops lost but one Francis C. Treadwell, a doctor of the sect residing killed and four wounded!

We are not surprised that The Sun should issue an Extra to give currency to this wicked houx, but we are amezed that the Commercial, Pest and American should have been taken in by it. It is a very clumsy though not less villanous fabrication. It purports on its face to have been written at Bangor, Maine, at 6 P M, of the 2d, and to have been brought by the writer to Boston, and put in the Post-Office there at 64 P. M. of Friday, the 3d. Now can any one suppose that this newsit in Boston by 4 o'clock P M. of Saturday save by this unvouched letter! Impossible.

Beside this we have seen a letter from Houlton (a U.S. post on the Boundary) of the 29th, and we have before us the Bangor Whig of the third. Neither of them, we need hardly state, says noy Credit, therefore unconstitutional, therefore not thing of this forged battle. Neither has Mr. Joseph Fairbanks (the name signed to the hour) manifested himself in the folly either in Beston or this City on his flight to Washington. If he is an est principles of moral rectitude as well as sound honest man, it is evident that rascals have been logic. Even were we to admit that all State Loans making free with his name for their own atrocious purposes. Enough said.

Mr. RAKEMANN'S CONCERT at the Tabernucle last evening was attended by such a bountiful audience as the talent engaged could not fail to attract.
